

New Year Reset: 7 Ways to Plan For Your Future

Posted on January 17, 2024

The New Year serves as a natural point for reflection and goal-setting. It symbolizes a fresh start and the opportunity for positive change, and it is also a time when many people contemplate the future and consider how to improve their lives.

One reset can include planning for your future through estate planning and elder law considerations. Here are 7 reasons why it is important:

1. Protect Your Legacy

Estate planning is a proactive way to safeguard and manage your assets for the benefit of your loved ones. It ensures that your legacy is protected and distributed according to your wishes. This aligns with the spirit of the New Year, where people often focus on leaving a lasting and positive impact.

2. Care for Your Loved Ones

Elder law planning is not just about the individual but also about caring for aging family members. Planning for healthcare, long-term care, and other elder law considerations demonstrates a commitment to the well-being of your loved ones as they age.

3. Gain Peace of Mind

Planning for the future, whether it's through a will, trust, or healthcare directive, provides a sense of control and peace of mind. Just as people set resolutions for better mental and emotional well-being, estate planning contributes to overall peace of mind by addressing potential future uncertainties.

4. Adapt to Changes

New Year's resolutions often involve adapting to changes and challenges. Similarly, estate planning allows for flexibility, enabling individuals to adapt their plans in response to life changes such as marriages, births, divorces, or changes in health.

5. Maximize Opportunities

Estate planning isn't just about protection; it's also about maximizing opportunities for your heirs. By planning ahead, you can take advantage of various legal and financial strategies to minimize taxes and ensure that your assets are used in the most beneficial way.

6. Empower Your Future Self

Just as setting personal goals empowers individuals to shape their future, engaging in estate and elder law planning empowers you to make decisions about your healthcare, finances, and legacy while you are still able to do so.

7. Protect Against Misunderstandings

Estate planning, done properly, can provide an easier process for your loved ones and beneficiaries after you pass away. Efficient, effective planning creates a clear path forward to ensure that your intentions, goals, and priorities are clear – no guesswork needed. This can often help prevent miscommunication, hurt feelings, stress, and more, amongst family members and beneficiaries.

Integrating estate planning and elder law considerations into your New Year's resolutions is a way to promote responsible and forward-thinking behavior, ensuring that you and your loved ones are prepared for whatever the future may hold.

Knox Law's Estate Planning & Administration and Elder Law groups can help you keep this resolution and effectively plan for your future.

Contact any of our Estate Planning or Elder Law attorneys, or call us at 814-459-2800.

---

Jerome C. Wegley

Jerome C. Wegley's practice focuses on asset protection and business succession planning. He helps people protect their assets from taxes, creditors, future ex-spouses and ex-in-laws, and nursing homes, so they may choose who benefits from their assets (themselves, their children, charities, etc.).

jwegley@kmgslaw.com • 814-923-4907

---

Legal Advice Disclaimer: The content of this website is provided for general information purposes only. It should not be used as a substitute for consulting an attorney for legal advice regarding the reader's own affairs. Knox McLaughlin Gornall & Sennett, P.C. is not responsible for the content provided on any third-party website which may be accessed via links provided by this site.

Not to be reproduced without permission.